

06-12-2022

OWS becomes Normec OWS

We are proudly announcing that OWS will be known as Normec OWS from now on

Normec Group

Since November 2020 OWS has been a part of the Normec Group, an international group active in the field of testing, inspecting, certification and compliance. This partnership will help Normec OWS continue to grow in collaboration with other Normec entities, allowing us to give a more streamlined and complete service.

What changes

For our customers we remain the same reliable and experienced partner. We offer identical testing services and our trusted team remains unchanged. The biggest change will be visual as we will be moving away from our green and blue colors, which we have used for over 30 years, and move towards orange and grey. We will of course also be adopting a new Normec OWS logo.

Developing a new site

As part of our new image we are working hard on updating and completely revising our website in order to offer even clearer information and a better way to reach us. This new version of the site will be going live at the beginning of 2023.

A link to the official press release regarding our takeover can be found here: Normec Group acquires OWS - November 2022

We thank you for choosing OWS in the past and hope on continuing our journey together as Normec OWS!

The Normec OWS team